Document Types

Broadside: a large sheet of paper usually printed on one side. Something such as an advertisement or public notice, that is printed on a broad side. Usually intended to be mass distributed. Also called broadsheet.

Biography of DeWitt Clinton (1769-1828)

DeWitt Clinton played a dominant role in politics in New York State during the first quarter of the 19th Century. DeWitt got his start working as the secretary for his uncle George Clinton, who was governor of New York at the time. Serving as a United States senator, he contributed to the 12th Amendment, and embedded party politics in the fabric of the constitution. He developed new forms of party politics such as the Spoils System. Historians say his greatest achievement was the Erie Canal, which represented Clinton's belief that government should play an active role in the economic and intellectual development of American Society. He served as mayor of New York City from 1803 to 1815, and as governor of New York State from 1817 to 1822 and 1825 to 1828. As mayor of New York City he was a diligent advocate in founding the public school system. He believed that cultural and educational opportunities were crucial to the development of New York society, and that government was responsible for promoting the spread of economic and intellectual opportunities for New Yorkers.

Scope and Contents of the Records/Papers/Collection

The documents contained in this collection are broadsides relating to the political developments that occurred between the years of 1775 and 1813. These include, but are not limited to nominations of candidates to government seats, appeals to voters for upcoming elections, acts passed in the New York State Assembly and Senate, and statistical records for various state-run organizations.

Organization of the Records/Papers/Collection

The documents in this collection are organized into 13 folders inside of one box. Folder 1 contains documents 1-10. Folder 2 contains documents 11-20. Folder 3 contains documents 21-30. Folder 4 contains documents 31-40. Folder 5 contains documents 41-50. Folder 6 contains documents 51-60. Folder 7 contains documents 61-70. Folder 8 contains documents 71-78. Folder 9 contains documents 79-88. Folder 10 contains documents 89-98. Folder 11 contains documents 99-108. Folder 12 contains documents 109-118. A folder in the collection that is unlocated should be between Folder 12 and 13, which would contain documents 119-128. Folder 13 contains documents 129-229. Folder

14 contains document 230, which was once in an oversize collection. Of the 230 documents in this collection that were recorded, 106 are present; the other 122 documents are unlocated.
